Michigan State University Self-Study

Significant Construction/Renovation 1996-2006

- Beaumont Tower Renovation - 1996
- MSU College of Law Building - 1997
- National Food Safety & Toxicology Building – 1997
- Anthony Meats Laboratory - 1997
- Transgenic Greenhouse – 1998
- Radiology Building – 1998
- Eustace-Cole Hall (Honors College) - 1998
- Clara Bell Smith Student Athlete Academic Support Center - 1998
- National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory Addition – 1999
- Agriculture Hall Annex - 1999
- The Mary Anne McPhail Equine Performance Center – 2000
- James B. Henry Center for Executive Development - 2001
- Delia Koo International Academic Center - 2002
- Diagnostic Center for Population and Animal Health - 2002
- Spartan Child Development Center - 2002
- Jenison Fieldhouse Renovation (included gender equity) - 2002
- Biomedical and Physical Sciences Building - 2002
- Alfred Berkowitz Basketball Complex (men’s and women’s basketball offices) - 2002
- National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory Addition – 2003
- Physics-Astronomy (now Psychology) Building Renovation – 2004
- Clinical Center Radiopharmaceutical Addition – 2003
- Heating/Vent./Air Condition - Upgrade at Biochemistry, Chemistry, Food Science – 2004
- Spartan Stadium Renovation (includes a Career Center hub) - 2004
- Research Complex Engineering Addition – 2005
• Chemistry Building Addition and Renovation – 2005
• Erickson Hall Addition – 2005
• IM West Courtyard Fitness Addition – 2005
• National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory Fabrication Addition – 2005
• 900 Mhz Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Addition – 2005
• Psychology Research (now Geography) Building Renovation – 2005
• Oncology Addition Veterinary Medicine – 2005
• Pegasus Critical Care Veterinary Medicine – 2005
• Michigan LamdaRail Optical Fiber Network (750 mile optical network connecting MSU, University of Michigan, Wayne State University and major research and commodity data networking connection points in Chicago) – 2005
• Case Hall – James Madison College expansion
• Snyder-Phillips Hall renovation for new residential college
• Power Plant upgrades